Increase Revenue & Gross Margin Outlook as Growing U.S. Drone Industry is Strategic Focus – Reiterate Buy, $3 Price Target

Summary

- We increase our revenue and gross margin forecasts after XTIA's update call yesterday, post close that introduced 2026 guidance and focused on the company's drone business instead of also developing a vertical take-off and landing aircraft.
- Guidance is for 2026 revenue of >$160M, above our prior $119M forecast, and positive monthly free cash flow by the end of the year.
- XTIA does not anticipate raising capital in 2026 after starting 2026 with $16.4M of cash, no interest-bearing debt (our estimate), and a $25M preferred equity investment from Unusual Machines (UMAC - Buy).
- We reiterate our Buy rating and $3.00 price target, derived by employing a 10-year DCF analysis with a 14% discount rate (down from 20%) and a 3% perpetual growth rate on our lower long-term FCF estimates. We remove our forecasts for sales of a manned vertical take-off and landing passenger aircraft that XTIA previously planned to sell for ~$10M each.

Details

Increase 2026 and 2027 estimates after update call and new guidance. XTIA held a virtual Town Hall meeting yesterday (2/5), post-close. Almost all of XTIA's prepared comments referred to the U.S. drone business opportunity. Previously, XTIA was developing a vertical take-off and landing (VTOL) aircraft. In November 2025, XTIA acquired private company Drone Nerds for total purchase consideration of $40.0M, implying a 4.6x EBITDA multiple on Drone Nerds' FY25 (Sep) EBITDA of $4.6M. XTIA closed a $25M preferred equity investment from Unusual Machines (UMAC - Buy) to fund a portion of the acquisition (for more information on UMAC, covered by Maxim Group analyst Matthew Galinko, see note from 11/7/25 – LINK). The acquisition press release referred to Drone Nerds as the largest drone distributor in the U.S. Based on Drone Nerds' growth, XTIA introduced 2026 revenue guidance of >$160M, above our prior $119.4M forecast. We increase our 2026 revenue forecast to $163.2M, up from $18.0M in 2025, from $119.4M. We increase our 2027 revenue forecast to $187.4M, up 14.8% y/y, from $122.9M. Note that we are the only sell-side firm covering the stock, per LSEG.

Increase gross margins and EBITDA. Drone Nerds' FY25 (Sep) gross margin was 23.4% after a 16.9% gross margin the prior year, both above our prior FY26 Drone Nerds gross margin forecast of 14.8%. XTIA's 8-K filing on 1/14/26 included unaudited financial statements for Drone Nerds. We increase our 2026 gross margin forecast to 17.4%, from 16.1%. We narrow our 2026 EBITDA loss forecast to ($4.0M), from ($23.4M). For 2027, we increase our gross margin forecast to 20.5%, from 16.9%. As a result, we now forecast a 2027 EBITDA of $6.7M compared to our prior forecast of an EBITDA loss of ($25.1M).

4Q25 preview. In addition to introducing FY26 guidance, XTIA reported a cash balance of $16.4M on 1/2/26, below our prior 12/31/25 cash forecast of $29.1M. We increase our 4Q25 cash burn forecast (cash flow from operations less capital expenditures) to $8.9M, up 11.3% y/y, from $8.1M. Also, we factor in a higher upfront cash outflow for the Drone Nerds acquisition versus delayed promissory note payments.

We maintain our 4Q25 revenue forecast of $14.5M, up from $1.0M in 4Q24 driven by the Drone Nerds acquisition which closed on 11/12/25, and increase our 4Q25 gross margin to 20.1%, from 17.3%. We widen our 4Q25 EBITDA loss estimate to ($8.1M), from ($6.3M) as we anticipate higher operating expenses in the quarter.

Balance sheet review. XTIA does not expect to raise additional capital in 2026 and plans to end 2026 with a cash balance >$16M. Also, XTIA expects to generate monthly FCF by the end of 2026. We forecast a 2026 cash burn of $4.8M. We note

XTIA announced the divestment of its industrial equipment monitoring business this month for $5.5M.

Reiterate Buy and $3.00 price target. We reiterate our Buy rating and $3.00 price target based on growth in XTIA's U.S. drone distribution and services business. We remove our long-term free cash flow forecasts from XTIA selling a VTOL aircraft. As an offset to our lower long-term FCF forecast, we reduce our discount rate to 14%, from 20%, based on XTIA's drone business generating revenue and operating profit in FY24 and FY25. Our $3.00 price target equates to 44.8x our 2027 balance sheet (including fully diluted shares, which totaled 99.0M on 2/1/26) and EBITDA forecasts compared to a current forward EV/EBITDA multiple of 39.6x for AeroVironment (AVAV - NR). Most other companies with drone business have negative EBITDA consensus forecasts for 2026.

Company description: Based in Colorado, XTIA operates a drone distribution and services business. XTIA is evaluating a development program of a vertical take-off and landing aircraft.

RISK RATINGS

Risk ratings take into account both fundamental criteria and price volatility.

Speculative – Fundamental Criteria: This is a risk rating assigned to early-stage companies with minimal to no revenues, lack of earnings, balance sheet concerns, and/or a short operating history. Accordingly, fundamental risk is expected to be significantly above the industry. Price Volatility: Because of the inherent fundamental criteria of the companies falling within this risk category, the price volatility is expected to be significant with the possibility that the investment could eventually be worthless. Speculative stocks may not be suitable for a significant class of individual investors.

High – Fundamental Criteria: This is a risk rating assigned to companies having below-average revenue and earnings visibility, negative cash flow, and low market cap or public float. Accordingly, fundamental risk is expected to be above the industry. Price Volatility: The price volatility of companies falling within this category is expected to be above the industry. High-risk stocks may not be suitable for a significant class of individual investors.

Medium – Fundamental Criteria: This is a risk rating assigned to companies that may have average revenue and earnings visibility, positive cash flow, and is fairly liquid. Accordingly, both price volatility and fundamental risk are expected to approximate the industry average.

Low – Fundamental Criteria: This is a risk rating assigned to companies that may have above-average revenue and earnings visibility, positive cash flow, and is fairly liquid. Accordingly, both price volatility and fundamental risk are expected to be below the industry.
