Company Overview

venu is a redefining the traditional amphitheater model as a developer, owner, and operator of purpose-built, multi-seasonal, omni-content live entertainment venues in underserved, high-growth markets. The Company combines innovative venue design with a differentiated public-private development strategy and proprietary fractional ownership model to create capital-efficient, cash-flowing assets while delivering premium fan experiences.

Backed by award-winning operating venues, an expanding development pipeline, and strategic partnerships with leading industry operators including Live Nation and AEG Presents, VENU, a Russell 3000 and Russell 2000 member, is well positioned to capitalize on growing demand for live entertainment and experiential hospitality.

Investment Highlights

Capital-efficient development model significantly reduces project risk

- Proprietary financing strategy combines public-private partnerships, pre-sales of Luxe FireSuite ownership interests, and sale-leaseback transactions to reduce upfront equity requirements.
- Municipal partners contribute land, infrastructure improvements, tax incentives, and other incentives that typically fund a meaningful portion of development costs.
- Operating partnerships with leading industry players shift much of the venue operating risk while allowing VENU to participate in long-term economics.

Disrupting a large and growing live entertainment market

- Developing premium, multi-season, omni-content live entertainment venues designed to deliver a differentiated guest experience through modern venue design, premium hospitality, and flexible event configurations.
- Focused on underserved, high-growth markets with favorable demographics and limited premium venue competition.
- Positioned to benefit from continued growth in live entertainment demand and increasing consumer spending on premium experiences.

Proven operating model with multiple revenue streams

- Revenue generated from ticketing, premium seating, food & beverage, parking, sponsorships, naming rights, hospitality, merchandise, and special events.
- Ancillary revenue streams enhance venue economics beyond ticket sales and support recurring cash flow generation.
- Successful launch of Ford Amphitheater validates consumer demand for VENU's premium entertainment concept.

Scalable platform supported by industry-leading partners

- Long-term relationships with leading operators and booking partners, including AEG Presents and Live Nation, provide access to premier content while reducing execution risk.
- Marquee sponsorship and naming rights agreements — including FORD, PepsiCo, EIGHT Beer, and Regent Bank— generate high-margin, recurring revenue while validating brand strength.
- Sponsorship, hospitality, ticketing, and food service partnerships further strengthen the operating platform.
- Standardized development model is designed for repeatable expansion across multiple markets.

Please refer to important disclosure information on page 3 of this report.

Visible expansion pipeline provides long-term growth runway

- Multiple amphitheater developments are under construction or planned across Texas, Oklahoma and Tennessee, alongside additional hospitality developments.
- More than 45 municipalities were evaluating potential VENU projects as of Q1 2026, providing a substantial pipeline for future growth.
- Existing projects are expected to materially expand the Company's operating footprint over the next several years.

Positioned to benefit from favorable live entertainment industry trends

- Live entertainment demand continues to strengthen, supported by rising ticket prices, increasing consumer preference for premium experiences, and sustained industry growth.
- Strategy targets attractive secondary markets experiencing strong population growth, favorable demographics, and limited direct competition.
- Growing portfolio positions the Company to capitalize on long-term demand for experiential entertainment and hospitality.

Experienced leadership team with proven execution capabilities

- Founder, Chairman and CEO JW Roth previously built and scaled successful businesses before launching VENU, applying that experience to create a differentiated venue development platform.
- Executive team includes seasoned leaders with decades of experience across Live Nation, House of Blues, MSG, Sphere, sports and entertainment venues, finance, hospitality, and real estate development.
- Strategic partnerships with industry leaders including Live Nation, AEG Presents, Ryan, Aramark, and others provide deep operational expertise while reducing execution risk.

JW Roth is Founder, Chairman, and CEO of VENU

- An entrepreneur with a passion for live music and premium experiences, Mr. Roth brings deep business acumen shaped by extensive experience across real assets, hospitality, consumer brands, and public companies.
- Founder and CEO since the Company's inception in March 2017; he became Chairman of the Board upon the Board's inception in 2021.
- Mr. Roth is also the Founder and Chairman of Roth Industries, LLC, a 200-400 ton per week prepared foods plant located in Colorado Springs, Colorado, which manages one of the most popular global health brands, Whole30.
- Additionally, Mr. Roth is the sole manager and 50 percent shareholder of Centennial Standard Real Estate Company, LLC and co-manager of Touch 4 Partners, LLC, a venture capital investment fund.

Value Proposition

VENU offers investors exposure to a differentiated live entertainment platform that combines premium entertainment real estate with a capital-efficient development model designed to accelerate growth while limiting dilution and reducing project risk. By integrating public-private partnerships, pre-sales of Luxe FireSuite® ownership interests, and sale-leaseback transactions, VENU has created a unique financing strategy that funds venue development through largely non-dilutive capital sources while building a portfolio of high-value entertainment assets positioned to generate recurring cash flow. This approach differentiates VENU from traditional venue developers and provides a scalable blueprint for national expansion.

The successful launch of Ford Amphitheater has validated the Company's concept, demonstrating strong consumer demand, premium spending, and the effectiveness of its financing model. Today, VENU is transitioning from concept to execution, with multiple amphitheaters under construction and a visible development pipeline supported by long-term partnerships with industry leaders including Live Nation and AEG Presents. At the same time, demand for the Company's ownership offerings continues to accelerate, with cumulative Luxe FireSuite® and Aikman Club sales surpassing $278 million, including a record $11.3 million in June 2026 and management expecting July to exceed that record. These ownership sales provide non-dilutive capital that funds construction, strengthens the balance sheet, and further reduces reliance on traditional financing as new venues approach opening. Combined with an experienced leadership team, a growing base of tangible assets, and multiple near-term catalysts tied to new venue openings and profitability, VENU is positioned to create meaningful long-term shareholder value as its platform continues to scale.
